Multiple Chemical Sensitivities, Degenerative Disc Disease

My back was so bad that we just couldn't be together, and it was so hard. We just couldn't live together in the same house - we couldn't even touch each other. Judy has suffered for twenty years with MCSCI. She lived in a porcelain unit for three months in Segoville. The sign we passed on the way over here said "hell is real", and hell is real because I lived in it for the past twenty years.

When Judy got sick, my world fell apart. She's doing better now. We can go anywhere and do anything. We've been to Dallas, TX, we can go anywhere. We spent all the money we had and all of my folks' money.

I had back surgery (Degenerative disc disease) in January. I have lived on pain killers for over 3 or 4 years. My primary physician said he had never heard of giving anybody that many pain killers. I was taking 80 mg. of oxycontin/day and 4 percocettes/day, and I was still in pain.

I've woken up the past two days with the Holy Ghost all over me, just feeling him. I didn't come to RLI to get healed, I came to see her get healed. I woke up this morning and I couldn't breathe, had cramps in my legs and wondering what was going on, thinking if it's some evil going on let's get it up and out of here, or if there's something God wants me to do, couldn't figure it out. I discovered I was having symptoms of coming off my pain medications, and my body was going into withdrawal because I just forgot to take them for over twelve hours. I had to start titrating them off to alleviate the symptoms.

So we're on the way here today in the same car. We haven't ridden together in the same car for years. Judy needed to stop, she was hungry. She has had to eat organic foods for twenty years. She said she wanted ice cream, so she went to the cooler at the store and picked up an ice cream. I didn't want one, but was thinking I wasn't about to miss this. I reached inside the cooler and thought, I'm taking this back. We're taking this back, we're going to eat what we want to eat. We'll eat right, but what we want to eat. We're going to eat what God provided for us to eat.

We got around I270, just around Columbus, and there was such a terrible wreck, it would break your heart. A semi hit the back end of a car. We really wanted to get down here, but the traffic looked like we couldn't. This is weird. We finally got past it. I had my eyes on the road, and Judy told me to look behind us. The emergency squad came and stopped the traffic in both directions on I270 just outside of Columbus. We were the last car to get past the wreck, then the road closed.

Friends, please listen to me. Let this stuff go. We came here because we are sick and tired of being sick and tired. We're taking our lives back. When Bryn and them are standing here, let that junk go, let it go. Last night, somebody wasn't. Let God fall on this place and fall on us, please. If you don't want Him to fall on you, ask Him to fall on the rest of us. Let it go and take your life back.
